

Law and the Material Turn, Research Seminar

This seminar for prospective authors for a special issue of Law, Society and Culture edited by Leora Bilsky and Anat Rosenberg, is intended as an introductory exploration of theories, applications, and directions of the material turn.

Joining us will be expert speakers from a number of disciplines. Each speaker has assigned readings from their own scholarship or other scholarship that they consider important or inspiring. Materials are available here: <https://www.dropbox.com/sh/73h5a2lucdlmcas/AAD8-eST4r2IEsz7J3uP3rnya?dl=0>

Through discussions, we hope to address some of the following questions:

- How do scholars define or understand the material turn?
- What kinds of dissatisfactions and searches for new answers ignited it?
- How has it changed or impacted research in various disciplines?
- What is its relevance, potential, and limitations for legal scholarship?
