

Erasmus Institute of Philosophy and Economics

Amartya Sen visits Rotterdam

On June 30 and July 1, 2010 professor Amartya Sen visits the Erasmus University in Rotterdam. Sen is Th. W. Lamont University Professor and Professor of Economics and Philosophy at Harvard University. He was awarded the Nobel Prize in Economics in 1998.

The Faculty of Philosophy, the Erasmus School of Economics of Erasmus University and the Erasmus Institute for Philosophy and Economics (EIPE) warmly invite you for the Public Lecture and the Symposium on the Philosophy of Amartya Sen.

The Faculty of Philosophy of the Erasmus University Rotterdam, the Erasmus Institute for Philosophy and Economics (EIPE) and the Erasmus School of Economics invite you to the public lecture by Amartya Sen:

Public Lecture

‘On Global Justice’

Wednesday 30th of June 2010, at 4.30 pm

The public lecture will be held in the Aula of the Campus Woudestein at the Erasmus University Rotterdam (Doors open at 4.10 pm). This lecture is aimed at a broad audience. Attendance is free and open to all interested, and reservations are neither needed nor possible.

The Faculty of Philosophy of the Erasmus University and the Erasmus Institute for Philosophy and Economics (EIPE) also invite academic philosophers, or other scholars with a strong interest in the philosophy of Amartya Sen, to the specialist academic event:

Symposium on the Philosophy of Amartya Sen

Thursday, July 1st, 2010 from 9.30 - 17.30

Speakers

Ann Cudd (University of Kansas, USA):
Commitment and Explanation: Sen's Philosophy of Social Science

Mozaffar Qizilbash (York University, UK, and Lahore University of Management Sciences, Pakistan):
Amartya Sen's Criticisms of Utilitarianism

Henry S. Richardson (Georgetown University, Washington, DC, USA):
Mapping out Improvements in Justice: Comparing vs. Aiming

Ingrid Robeyns (Erasmus University Rotterdam, the Netherlands):
Equality of Root Capability

Amartya Sen (Harvard University, USA): Discussion