

Information regarding research outputs made available under the Taverne Amendment

Background and Legal Framework

This work has been made available under the terms of Article 25fa of the Dutch Copyright Act (Nederlandse Auteurswet).

Article 25fa of the Dutch Copyright Act, also known as the Taverne Amendment, entitles the author (maker) of a short scientific work, the research for which was paid for wholly or partially with Dutch public funds, to make that work publicly available for no consideration following a reasonable period of time after the work was first published, provided that clear reference is made to the source of its first publication.

Following a joint policy with our Universities of the Netherlands (UNL) partner institutions, research outputs of researchers employed by Dutch Universities that fall within the scope of Article 25fa of the Dutch Copyright Act are being made available online and free of charge in the relevant institutional repository, six months after their first publication, in their original published version, and with proper attribution to the source of their original publication.

Terms and Conditions for Use

This material is protected under Dutch and international copyright laws. All rights are reserved by the relevant copyright holder(s).

Except as permitted by Dutch copyright law, you may not copy, reproduce, distribute, publish, display, perform, modify, create derivative works, transmit, or in any way exploit this material, nor may you make any part of this material available to any third party, sell or offer it for sale, or use this material to construct any kind of database without the prior written permission of the copyright holder(s).

Dutch copyright law allows, among others, the following uses of this material without prior permission:

- (i) you may download, save and print a copy of this material for your own personal, non-commercial use;
- (ii) you may share the link to this material.

Take-down Policy

If you believe that this material infringes your copyright and/or any other intellectual property rights, you may request its removal by contacting the Erasmus University Library at the following email address: openaccess.library@eur.nl. Please provide us with all the relevant information, including the reasons why you believe any of your rights have been infringed. In case of a legitimate complaint, the Library will make the material inaccessible and/or remove it from the repository.