Dear student,

You have requested to take your exam via online proctoring. This means the following:

- 15 minutes before the exam starts you log in to ANS (https://ans.app/) using Google Chrome.
- You select the exam in the list of 'Scheduled assignments' (please note in case the exam has already started, you can find the exam in the list of 'Live assignments')
- Click the button 'Launch ProctorExam' (scroll down for the button)
- Follow the instructions for setting up ProctorExam
- Once you have done this, please click on the link in ProctorExam to go back to ANS
- You are now ready to start with exam

* The ProctorExam system check is not a required action. You will start ProctorExam via ANS. You are urgently advised to check your own systems well before the exam date. Please visit:

- https://proctorexam.com/test-taker-support/ for the requirements (ProctorExam support page)
- https://www.speedtest.net/ to check your internet speed
- https://www.onlinemictest.com/webcam-test/ to check your webcam
- https://www.onlinemictest.com/ to check your microphone

Your PC must allow that a Google Chrome screen share extension is active during the exam, for more info:

- General troubleshotting: How to install the ProctorExam Screen Sharing Extension – ProctorExam
- Apple macOS and higher: Mac: Instruction for screen sharing Apple macOS and higher – ProctorExam

In case the exam requires a second camera via your mobile phone or tablet, make sure you have installed the ProctorExam app: ProctorExam app for Apple ProctorExam app for Android

If you encounter problems during the system check or during the requirements check, you can go to the support page of Proctor Exam via: support.proctorexam.com

If you encounter problems or if you have questions during the exam, do not hesitate to reach out via the chat at the bottom right of the ProctorExam screen.

Students can ask questions about the proctoring process in advance and afterwards via proctoring@eur.nl. These questions will be addressed by the Examination Organisation.

Good luck with your exam!

Team Online Proctoring Erasmus University Rotterdam