

Erasmus Institute for Philosophy and Economics (EIPE)

Research Seminar Programme Spring 1998

28 January, Jean-Pierre Dupuy (Ecole polytechnique, Paris)

"Projected equilibrium: Philosophical foundations of a new concept of equilibrium in the social sciences"

Comments by Sanjeev Goyal (Erasmus University)

11 February, Daniel Hausman (University of Wisconsin and LSE)

"Revealed preference, belief and game theory"

Comments by Maarten Janssen (Erasmus University)

25 February 1998, Maarten Franssen (Technical University of Delft)

"The not so trivial truth of methodological individualism"

Comments by Jack Vromen (Erasmus and University of Amsterdam)

11 March, Judith Mehta (Erasmus)

"Modes of agreement in inter-firm business relations ... histories, futures, promises and gifts"

Comments by Emiel Wubben (Erasmus University)

25 March, James McAllister (University of Leiden)

"Is beauty a sign of truth in scientific theories?"

Comments by Hans Koeze (Erasmus University)

22 April, Bruna Ingrao (University of Rome, La Sapienza)

"Equilibrium and the boundaries of economics: Pareto's logical and non-logical actions revisited"

Comments by Wil Arts (University of Tilburg)

6 May, Silke Stahl (Max-Planck-Institut, Jena)

"Why is economics not an evolutionary science? A new interpretation of Veblen's 1898 article"

Comments by John Groenewegen (Erasmus University)

20 May 1998, Uskali Mäki (Erasmus)

"The way the world works (www): An ontological constraint on theorizing"

Comments by Pieter Ruys (University of Tilburg)