

Erasmus Institute for Philosophy and Economics (EIPE)

Research Seminar Programme Spring 2001

22 January, Uskali Mäki (Erasmus and NIAS)

"Theoretical isolation and explanatory progress: Transaction cost economics and the dynamics of dispute"

Comments by George Hendrikse (Erasmus University)

5 February, Wade Hands (University of Puget Sound and Erasmus)

"Economic methodology is dead - Long live economic methodology"

Comments by Maarten Janssen (Erasmus University)

19 February, Arjo Klamer (Erasmus University)

"Essential tensions between property and possession"

Comments by Slawomir Magala (Erasmus University)

5 March, Govert den Hartogh (University of Amsterdam and NIAS)

"Mutual expectations: A conventionalist theory of obligatory norms"

Comments by Theo van Willigenburg (Erasmus University)

9 March, Bruce Caldwell (University of North Carolina and the LSE)

"Hayek: Right for the wrong reasons?"

Comments by Wade Hands (University of Puget Sound and Erasmus)

2 April, John Davis (Marquette University and Erasmus)

"Agent identity in economics: The embedded individual of heterodox economics"

Comments by Jack Vromen (Erasmus University)

23 April, Richard Whitley (Manchester Business School and Erasmus)

"The restructuring of knowledge production in the late 20th century: The end of science as we know it?"

Comments by Loet Leydesdorff (University of Amsterdam)

21 May, László Pólos (Erasmus and NIAS) and Michael Hannan (Stanford University and NIAS)

"Reasoning with partial knowledge"

Comments by Igor Douven (Utrecht University)