

Erasmus Institute for Philosophy and Economics (EIPE)

Research Seminar Programme Spring 2002

4 February, Harro Maas (University of Amsterdam)

"Exorcising Mill and Whewell: Jevons's Introduction of Graphs in Economics"

Comments by Bert Mosselmans (University of Antwerp)

18 February, Claude Ménard (Paris I, Sorbonne, and Erasmus)

"Measuring the Welfare Effects of Reform: The Case of Urban Water Supply"

Comments by Roland Speklé (Erasmus)

4 March, Mozaffar Qizilbash (University of East Anglia)

"Value Incommensurability and Economic Analysis"

Comments by Gijs van Donselaar (Erasmus)

18 March, David Atkinson (University of Groningen)

"Galileo and A Priori Argument in Natural Science"

Comments by Hans Koeze (Erasmus)

8 April, Barbara Krug and László Pólos (Erasmus)

"Identities that Matter: Entrepreneurship in an Environment of High Uncertainty"

Comments by Päivi Oinas (Erasmus)

29 April, Michael Hutter (Witten/Herdecke University)

"The Role of Ambiguity in the Evolution of Economic Ideas: Four Episodes"

Comments by Arjo Klamer (Erasmus)

13 May, Harold Kincaid (University of Alabama)

"Scientific Realism and the Empirical Nature of Methodology"

Comments by Igor Douven (Erasmus)

27 May, Deirdre McCloskey (University of Illinois at Chicago and Erasmus)

"A Useable Ethics of the Virtues for a Useable Economics"

Comments by Theo van Willigenburg (Erasmus)