

Erasmus Institute for Philosophy and Economics (EIPE)

Research Seminar Programme Spring 2003

27 January, Theo van Willigenburg (Erasmus)

"In praise of conceptual analysis:

A comparison of 'fragile', 'disgusting', 'red', 'bitter', 'admirable' and 'good'"

Comments by Jan Bransen (University of Nijmegen)

10 February, Marcel Boumans (University of Amsterdam)

"The instruments of an economist: How to evaluate them?"

24 February, Bruno Verbeek (University of Bayreuth)

"Justifying a theory of rational choice"

Comments by Igor Douven (Erasmus)

10 March, Malcolm Rutherford (University of Victoria)

"Chicago Economics and Institutionalism"

Comments by John Groenewegen (Erasmus)

24 March, Arie Rip (University of Twente)

"Science in the Twenty First Century"

Comments by Josee van Eijndhoven (Erasmus)

7 April, Jesus Zamora Bonilla (UNED, Madrid)

"The (game-theoretic) logic of scientific discovery"

Comments by Esther-Mirjam Sent (University of Notre Dame and NIAS)

28 April, Bert Mosselmans (Utrecht and Antwerp)

"Quetelet's methodology and the prehistory of the representative agent"

Comments by Evert Schoorl (Groningen)

12 May, Barbara Krug (Erasmus)

"Networks in cultural, economic, and evolutionary perspective"

Comments by Päivi Oinas (Erasmus)