

Erasmus Institute for Philosophy and Economics (EIPE)

Research Seminar Programme Spring 2009

22 January, Ulrich Witt (Jena)

"Novelty and the Bounds of Unknowledge in Economics"

Comments Koen Frenken (Utrecht)

9 February, Peter Wakker (EUR)

"Using modern Non-expected Utility Theories for Risky Decisions and Modern Tools from Experimental Economics to revisit Classical Debates in Economics, and to Restore the Classical Utility Concept" (co-authors: Mohammed Abdellaoui and Carolina Barrios)

Comments Jan Sprenger (TiLPS, Tilburg)

2 March, Martin O'Neill (Manchester, Louvain-la-Neuve)

"Social Justice, Corporations and the Basic Structure"

Comments Gijs van Donselaar (UvA)

16 March, Paul Roth (University of California, Santa Cruz)

"Whatever happened to Analytic Philosophy of History?"

Comments Harro Maas (UvA)

30 March, Tony Lawson (Cambridge)

"Heterodox Economics and Pluralism",

Comments Esther-Mirjam Sent (Nijmegen)

20 April, Johan Graafland (Tilburg)

"Doux Commerce and Self-Destruction in a Curvilinear Relation between Competition and Virtues"

Comments Rudi Verburg (EUR)

11 May, Federica Russo (Louvain-La-Neuve, Kent),

"Explaining causal modelling. Or, what a causal model ought to explain"

Comments Leen de Vreese (Gent)

25 May, Wybo Houkes (Eindhoven)

"Universal Darwinism and the Unity of Science"

Comments Jan-Willem Stoelhorst (UvA)